"Who Will Be Bound"

We published last week the advice of the Athens Messenger, a strong republican paper, to the republican voters of this congressional district concerning their dereliction to the nominee of that party.

Listen to the words of this prominent republican paper: "IT IS A PIECE OF BARE-FACED ASSUMPTION, NOT JUSTIFIED BY THE APPLICATION OF ANY RELICS OF POLITICAL PARTIES OR POLITICAL PROCEDURE, TO ASSUME THAT THE NOMINATION OF A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THE LOGAN CONVENTION, IS BINDING, OR WILL BE BINDING, UPON THE ACTION OF ANY MEMBER OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, WHATSOEVER, WHAT HAVE THE REPUBLICANS OF THIS DISTRICT TO DO WITH THIS NOMINATION?"

Such words also came from the lips of William H. Taft, not candidate Taft, when he came out to Ohio in the Herrick-Pattison campaign; and in his Akron speech he said if he were in Cincinnati on election day and he regretted that he could not be there, that he would vote against the Republican ticket nominated by crookedness under the political reign of George B. Cox.

Congressman Douglas two years ago denounced the convention that nominated him, saying he did not approve of the methods by which he had received the honor at their hands. How much better was the methods used for his nomination Thursday of last week. The self same perpetuated committees of two years ago, named the delegates. The members of the party, outside of the few bosses, had no voice in the matter. The bosses expect to name the candidates, and the rank and file must get on the wagon and elect them.

Editor Bush very carefully reviews the figures, that in this district where the normal republican majority was round the 10,000 mark that two years ago Douglas was elected over his Democratic opponent by a paltry 1,000. Editor Bush says that Judge Wright, the opponent of Douglas was not as strong as he might have been. That is true in one sense; Judge Wright is a poor man. If he had half the finances back of him that Albert Douglas has, he would have been the congressman from this district today. Couple with the vast popularity of Judge Wright among the rank and file of the mass of the people regardless of party, his oratory and ability, and then place to his use to defray the expense of literary bureaus, half the "barrel" opened by Douglas, and Judge Wright will skin him alive.

In all the history of this district, Judge Wright came the nearest of any Democrat to being elected to congress.

Judge Wright this year is not seeking any nominations. He is practicing law, and making a living, but if the Democratic congressional convention should name him as their candidate again, and he could be induced to accept the nomination, there will be but one result and that is that the political career of Congressman Douglas will be a matter of history after the November election.

The independence manifested by Editor Bush is but the sentiment of half the republican party in this district. The wave is growing higher every day to sweep from the deck of the old Republican craft, the pirates that have fought their way with sword and fire brand to the wheel in the tower, and that have the helm headed toward the rock that will crush in her sides like an egg shell. Editor Bush seeks to save his party, not to destroy it. He advises the disinfected this year, so that the life of his party in the future may be pure and clean.

Wants Wages, not Wind.

THE DAY is at hand when the workman can no longer be deluded by the cry of protection. Of what possible interest can it be to a workman out of a job and out of money to tell him that the country is growing greater, grander and richer under the Republican policy of protection? What he wants is work, steady work, with enough money in his envelope on pay-day to settle the necessary bills for the support and education of his family, and at the same time have something left to lay away to provide against old age and sickness. Look around you and see what a very small percentage of working people are enabled to do more than plod along, with little hope and no provision for the future.

JUDGE O. W. H. WRIGHT,

Of Old Hocking.

He was called to Columbus last week and importuned by the state leaders of his party to become the Democratic candidate on the state ticket for Attorney General. The Judge and his friends feel proud of the proffered honor coming unsolicited to a son of the clay crest hills of old Hocking.

Obituary.

Once more the silent form before us, the open grave awaiting, and tears remind us of the common lot of all the human race, we are reminded that death is upon our track and soon we, too, must fall, and like our sister and friend must bid farewell to earth forever. Elizabeth J. Sanner was born June 23, 1847, and died Feb. 24, 1908. Aged 60 years, 8 months and 1 day.

She was joined in marriage with B. A. Woodard January 25, 1874. To this union were born 4 children—Sarissa H., Albert W., Rilla J., and Edward F., all of whom are living except Rilla J. who died in early childhood.

At the age of 18 she gave her heart to the Lord, and her hand to the church. Through all these years she remained loyal to the church and faithful to her Savior. As long as health would permit she attended public worship and was ever ready to discharge her duty and bear testimony of Him who had so abundantly pardoned her transgressions.

In 1881 she became an invalid, and for over 12 years was unable to walk. Yet all this was borne with patience, her faith in God ever becoming stronger, until in 1891 she began to believe that God would heal her if called upon. They accordingly arranged for a meeting at the home, and their united prayers ascended to the throne of God, the result of which was—Sister Woodard arose and walked. She suffered more than her friends knew, yet, through it all, in her earliest desire to live and do her full part, she battled successfully for life until last Monday afternoon when she fought a losing battle as to physical results, but a victorious one as to her immortal crowning. She gave every assurance that her cause was safely anchored in the Savior's care, and that Heaven to her was certainty. She leaves a husband, three children, four grandchildren, one brother and numerous relatives and friends to mourn their loss.

Obituary

One by one does the Father call us from out of Time into Eternity. He sends His messenger, the Death Angel, and silently we close our eyes to all the world and obey the summons from the other shore.

Lewis Edward Smith was born July 20, 1887, departed this life March 17, 1908. Aged 20 years, 7 months and 27 days.

In the springtime of the year when all the world was a waking up with new life and beauty, when every sense seemed to be thrilling with just the pure joy of living, our friend, who was in the very springtime of youth and hope, received a message from the spirit world, "that he was to lay down this earthly life, with all its sorrows and cares, and come to the Land of Zion, where all is peace, happiness and joy, and be clothed anew with the beautiful life of immortality." On Feb. 9, he was stricken down with a mortal illness, and after nearly six long weeks of suffering—suffering which was at times agonizing—God took compassion on him and called him home. During all his sickness, the long days and weary nights, when his body was racked with pain, no one heard him murmur or complain. He was patience personified. He had learned the great lesson of being patient through suffering. He continually wanted some one to read the Bible and pray for and with him. A couple of weeks or so before his death it was thought one night that he was dying, and it seemed as though for awhile the spirit had indeed taken its flight. But gradually life returned, and when he had roused up sufficiently to speak, he called a friend to his bed-side and told him he had been to heaven. "And Oh," he said, while his eyes shone with a radiance which was not of this world, "It was so beautiful, I wanted to stay." We have no comments to make on such a heavenly experience; it speaks for itself.

Only the day before the final call came, he raised himself up in bed and looking out of the window exclaimed, "What a beautiful day out!" And today, we who knew him best, are confident that he is safe at rest in the land that is fairer than day. A short time before he had passed from death unto life, a friend ask him if all was well between him and the Master, "Yes, yes!" came the answer. It was all well with him.

In writing this last honorary tribute to the memory of my dear friend, I would that I could tell you how good and kind he was, how he loved and honored his father and mother, but words fail me. His was a beautiful life, but being of a modest, reserved nature, it was only those who were intimately acquainted with him, who knew and appreciated the sterling qualities which he possessed.

How his mother will miss her boy, for he was her eldest son, her darling boy. How often I heard her tell him, that if it were only possible, how gladly she would bear all his pain and suffering.

But how much nearer heaven seems to her now that she knows her dear boy is waiting for her over there.

Bitter and heart breaking indeed would be the parting from our dear ones if it were not for the blessed hope of the eternal reunion on the beautiful Evergreen Shore.

It is but natural that we should weep and long for the presence of those we have known and loved, but who, having found the burden of life too heavy, have stopped at one of the many cross-roads along Life's great Highway, and laid the weary burden down, leaving us to finish the journey alone.

Funeral services were held at the M. E. Church of Gibsonville, Rev. Baker officiating, after which the body was laid to rest in the M. E. Cemetery.

A father, mother, four sisters, three brothers are left to mourn their loss.

The poor father thinks sadly of the strong arm of the son on which he was used to leaning, and who was the staff of his declining years and silently grieves, but God will comfort him. God's will be done, but still,

"Come back!" we cry and o'er the river cold,
Send sore beseechings to the other shore;
But a sweet voice heard in days most old,
Makes answer thus, "They will return no more."
And we leave our sleeper with God.

A FRIEND,

Fire Chief Waner's Report to Council

To the Honorable Council of Logan, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—I have made a thorough inspection of the school building in Logan, Ohio, and find I have good access to all parts of the buildings, in case of fire. I can put four lines of hose in buildings on short notice. I think that the new school building is perfectly safe.

I recommend that the old school building should have wider landings and stair-way. The door leading to fire escape should be inspected and see that they work properly, at least, once a week. All doors from school rooms should open out into the halls, some of them now open inwardly. The outside doors are equipped with the old style spring bolts and should be changed, for, when doors open and close back to place, the bolts spring into their sockets.

The Opera House should have exit on the north side, with double doors opening out to stair-way. Said stair-way should be not less than ten feet wide. The Nickelodeum show room doors open inwardly and should be changed to open outwardly. The old Rempel Hotel building and the James Block building should be provided with fire escapes. Would further recommend that all buildings and shops be inspected as to fire escapes and danger of fire.

WM. WANER, Fire Chief.
Logan, Ohio, March 24, 1908.
